Monroe County Executive Jack Doyle today invited all residents to celebrate Earth Day at Frontier Field on Saturday, April 22, 2000. "Monroe County is committed to providing its residents with a healthy environment," said Doyle. "Earth Day serves as a good reminder to reduce, reuse and recycle our waste every day of the year to leave clean living space for generations to come."

Pre-game entertainment includes an Easter egg hunt; mascot greetings from Chet the Cheetah, Earthling and Recycler; environmental displays throughout the concourse, including electric vehicles; and a Wild Wings live bird demonstration.

Prize giveaways include: a recycled computer system, donated by Rochester Computer Recycling & Recovery; one-year garbage disposal services, courtesy of Waste Management; and a New York State Department of Environmental Conservation "Campership" for a youth to a summer environmental educational camp.
